NOTES.

A young girl wants a situation. See 50-cent column.

M. E. Ward, the cattle man, is the daddy of another boy babe.

Eastern oysters are received every other morning by express, by the Palace Hotel restaurant.

The grass and trees were white with frost this morning, and ice froze to a depth of a quarter of an inch.

Twenty bars of bullion from the Comstock, Mount Diablo and Northern Belle mines, and four sacks of coin went below by Wells-Fargo this morning.

Davis & Son carry the most complete stock of cigars and tobacco of any tobacconists in town. For a good cigar, go to the store on Commercial Row. Every known brand of tobacco can be had of them. Call and be convinced.

It is a generally conceded fact that groceries cannot be bought at retail in any other town in Nevada as they are selling to-day in Reno, and it is also believed to be true that A. Lindley & Co. are had more to do with this reduction than anybody.

Whenever you see the same people go to the same hotel every time they are in town, you can be pretty certain they are satisfied with their usage, and this is true of everybody who has ever stopped at the Palace in Reno. Everyone connected with the place does his utmost to make all guests comfortable.

It was thought some time ago that the Reno dry goods merchants had prices down about as low as the goods could possibly be sold, but S. M. Jamison finds that by paying cash for his goods he is able to make a still further reduction, as anyone can see who will take the trouble to inquire the prices.

The French Cabinet is reported to be on the verge of dissolution, many of its members having already resigned, and the Emperor of Prussia is reported as having caused to be written a sharp note to the French Ministry relative to the reception given to Alfonso, but all this European excitement don't interfere with the manufacture of George Becker's Pacific beer.

Very few business men have the confidence of an entire community to the extent of that enjoyed by J. K. Everett. Everybody knows that it is not necessary to watch the scales every time he weighs out your order. And further, they all know they can depend upon what he says about his goods, which is saying a great deal.

The Jewish holidays being over, F. Levy & Bro. are as busy as bees unpacking and marking their new stock of Fall and Winter goods, which those ladies who have seen them pronounce unexcelled. They also keep up their assortment of carpets and oil-cloths, ladies' and children's shoes, as well as everything else ever seen in a dry goods store.

"I positively will not cook another meal on that old, cracked, burnt-out stove, and if you can't afford to get me a new range such as I saw at Knowles & Bainbridge's you can get your meals at a restaurant," was what a Reno woman was heard to say this morning, as she was vainly struggling with an old stove that had been in her kitchen for more than a dozen years.

The boy with a watch. The boy that wears a watch is an important character. At school he is envied, and on the street he is respected. None of the boys grab him and throw him down, for they might break his time-keeper. He has a way of twisting the chain when he talks, and of looking at his watch when he hears a railroad train, and saying twelve or fifteen, or eight or sixteen. The other boys stand around and regard him with admiration. He grows up and probably goes to college with a distinguished air, but in a few years he pawns his watch with a man who, as a boy, often stood around and admired it.

The Promised Lecture. The lecture promised a few weeks since by Prof. Foster, will be given to-morrow evening, (Friday), in the Methodist Church for the benefit of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union at 7:30 o'clock. It will undoubtedly be an interesting and instructive lecture, and it is hoped the speaker will be greeted by a full house.

A Displaced Shoulder. Yesterday afternoon, while attempting to handle a "bronco" with a rope around his neck, William Henderson, the colored job and expressman, was dragged a considerable distance and his left shoulder dislocated.

Weekly Gazette. The WEEKLY GAZETTE issued from this office to-day contains all the current news of the past week, as well as all matters of local interest. Terms, $2 per year in advance—send for a sample copy.

Snow in Reno. During the recent storm, snow to the depth of six inches fell in Bodie, still the Free Press continues to pin its faith on the pine-nut crop, and hopes for an open, mild winter.

HONOLULU POLITICS.

Claus Spreckels at War With the Government Officials. HONOLULU, H. I. Sept. 24.

Editor Gazette: Again Honolulu is convulsed with a political eruption. The "opposition" has picked another flaw in the armor of the Government, and their shafts this time have nearly, if not quite, reached a vital spot. At any rate, friends of the Ministry are more concerned over this last attack than over any previous one that has lately been made. An opposition paper has published a card, over the signature of Claus Spreckels, accusing a member of the Board of Immigration of receiving $5 per head on all Chinese immigrants (slaves would be a more appropriate name) landed in this Kingdom. As the case now stands, it is a question of veracity between the accused official and Sir Claus. As this official is a son-in-law of the Prime Minister, it is apparent that the latter person is being whipped over the former's shoulders. Spreckels evidently intends to oust the present Cabinet. For what reason is not apparent, as the affairs of the government are being now as well, if not better, conducted for the benefit of the people than ever before. The great sugar king has gone about this business in a manner which indicates that "it will be a cold day when he gets left," and as cold days are a rarity down here, he is in a fair way to accomplish his end. The Daily Bulletin has changed hands since this began, and rumor hath it that Claus could tell who now owns it. Through its columns every morning, as through those of two weekly papers, the public is told more about the life and doings of Mr. Gibson (the premier), than perhaps he himself knows. It is said that Spreckels has formally demanded of the King the dismissal of Gibson, and as a consequence he is the all-absorbing topic of conversation, and he has been so far honored as to become the subject of numerous caricatures by local artists, whose specimens of skill adorn bulletin boards and shop windows throughout the city. What these pictures are intended to represent is not for a common foreigner to determine, but that they are funny there is no doubt, as is evinced by the laughter of crowds of natives who constantly surround them. What the outcome of all this maneuvering will be, is the question of the hour, and the result may be taken as fairly indicating the extent of Claus Spreckels' influence over the "King of the Cannibal Islands," or the fear the last named individual has that his Prime Minister will use his influence among the natives and cause him to become more unpopular than he now is, if such a thing be possible. It is more than likely that for this reason Gibson will come out "on top of the heap."

The Coombs Jury.

The Coombs case was submitted to the jury at 11:40 yesterday. They came in last evening, shortly after 6 o'clock, saying they could not agree. Judge Boardman sent them back again. This afternoon they came in again and said it was impossible for them to find a verdict. The Court instructed them that it was their duty, without bias or prejudice of any kind or degree whatsoever, carefully, patiently, impartially and thoroughly to consider and weigh the evidence, and to apply the law particularly, specially, and as a whole, as given by the Court, in order that they may agree upon and render a just and impartial verdict according to law and evidence; that it is their duty to enter upon their deliberations with due consideration and an earnest desire that without bias or prejudice, or influenced by opinion, they may agree upon a just verdict. The Court said that considering the time devoted to the trial of the cause the jury had accepted the duty of giving a proportionate share of care, patience and consideration to the decision of the same. They returned to the jury room looking cross and tired.

New Fruit Association.

There is to be established at Grass Valley a fruit association, to be conducted on the same plan as the one at Newcastle, in Placer county. The latter named is one of the most successful in the State. They find a ready market for their fruit, both at home and in the East, and they get the best prices. Since the organization of the association in Placer county, the fruit of that section has greatly improved in quality and size, so that it now ranks among the best in the State. The association to be organized will be a strong one, and will devote means for the purchase and shipment of all fruits raised in that section of the county. A depot will be established where fruit may be kept and made ready for shipment.

The Coming Races.

The races to come off at the Fair grounds, commencing October 22, promises to be a grand success; horses are coming from Carson, Mason Valley, Plumas county, Susanville and Eureka. The gentlemen having the matter in charge are making extensive preparations for a good time. A general invitation is extended to all to come and enjoy themselves. Every attention will be paid to guests.

PERSONALS.

W. D. Tobey of Carson was in town this morning on his way below.

George White boss carpenter on the V. & T. and C. C., went west to-day.

Superintendent Boyle, of the Alta, and family, returned from California to-day.

Lunch baskets at Nasby's, No. 27 Commercial Row. Thermometer at 7, 9, 11, 1, 3—38, 45, 53, 55, 56.

Captain Morgan, ex-Captain of the Carson Guards, and for several years a resident of Bodie, accompanied by his wife, came in from the south to-day on his way to Oregon.

Hon. D. Melarkey of Humboldt, who was thought to have been near death's door when he left Sacramento a short time ago, was a passenger on the east-bound train this morning, apparently very much improved in health, but not yet able to swing a 12-pound hammer.

ANOTHER ARRIVAL.

The Bonanza King Reaches Nevada.

When the east-bound train arrived this morning, John W. Mackey stepped lightly off the car, and was welcomed by several old friends from Virginia, Reno and the Bay. After he got breakfast Mr. Mackey was approached by a GAZETTE reporter, who in a manner, mild but firm, proceeded to pump him for news with only indifferent success. He has become a violent anti-monopolist, and directed his conversation mostly in that direction. He found the Virginia train gone and that was a disappointment, and he had met a burned bridge on the D. & R. G. which kept the train lying in a canyon for 11 hours, where he caught a cold and lame back. He hired a team of Wilson and he and Dick Dye drove up. In answer to the inquiry if he shared with Senator Sharon the belief that there was no hope of a mine on the Comstock, he said very decidedly: "No, sir, I don't. I think we have a good show for some mines there. It takes a good deal of hope to make a miner."

R.—The papers say there will be mills built at the mouth of the Sutro Tunnel and a great deal of low-grade ore worked.

M.—We will work ore, but I have not heard any plans of that kind spoken of.

R.—A gentleman said yesterday that Mr. Flood told him that as soon as you came back some of the big mills would be started on low grade ore from the Ophir and other mines.

M.—Very likely. I haven't been here for some time and am just going up to see what is going on.

R.—How about you and ex-Senator Sharon running for the Senate as Democrats?

M.—Oh! that's damn nonsense. I am not going into politics at all.

Mr. Mackey said that acquaintances of Sharon had a good deal of fun with him in New York. They told him they knew he would do a mean trick once in a while, but they didn't think he would go off and get married and not invite any of his friends.

The postal telegraph is absorbing a good deal of Mr. M.'s attention, and he speaks confidently and contentedly. He says Arthur is the strong man for President and Jones for the Senate.

No Public Administrator.

On Saturday last, says the Bridgeport Union, an Indian died at Tweedy's ranch, whereupon his dog and nine of his horses killed. The dog, gun and other personal property were interred with the body. The horses are being jerked, and the Indians are hunting for another horse that belonged to the defunct. The estate was settled without the intervention of courts or lawyers.

Chinese Justice.

The Virginia Enterprise gives Judge Pomeroy of that place the following hint: When Mr. Book-walter was in China he became acquainted with a Judge who invited him to see a case tried. The culprit was arraigned for larceny. Within forty minutes that Court tried the prisoner, convicted him, sentenced him to death, took him out in an alley and cut his head off.

Dress Making.

Miss Anna C. Jamison, late of San Francisco, has taken rooms at the residence of Mrs. S. M. Jamison, and is prepared to do dress-making in the latest styles. She is a lady of large experience in that line, and those desiring her services will find it greatly to their advantage to call and see her. Miss Jamison will also go out by the day if desired. Read ad.

District Court.

On account of the sickness of Judge Boardman, all cases set for trial have been ordered vacated, all grand and trial jurors excused for the term, and all pending probate matters continued until the 5th of November.

In Trouble Again.

"Grizzly Dan," who was sent to the penitentiary from this county for robbing lawyer Cain, was recently discharged, and is now in the Ormsby county jail for petty larceny.

EQUAL DIVISION.

The Wife Takes the Oysters and the Husband the Shells.

The Virginia Chronicle of last evening contains the following:

"You're the greatest hand for oysters on the half-shell that I ever saw," said a Taylor-street man to a B-street man this morning.

"You're dead wrong there," said the B-street man; "I'm fond of 'em, but I don't eat a plateful twice a year."

"Well," said the Taylor-street man, "if I don't want to contradict you, but I'll swear I've seen you and your wife go into Fitzgibbon's half a dozen times in the last two weeks, and every time the order would be, 'Oysters on the half shell.'"

"That's true enough, but I don't get any," said the B-street man, with an air of melancholy resignation. "I'll explain the matter to you, but for heaven's sake don't give me away, or that old woman of mine will kill me sure. You see she's got a terrible appetite for oysters, and nothing less than two plates will satisfy her. That costs a dollar, and she insists that we can't afford to spend more than a dollar for luxuries. Well, just as soon as the waiter goes out she snaffles my plate of oysters and slides 'em all onto her own plate. She always makes some remarks about a 'fair division,' while she gobbles up all the oysters and gives me the half shells."

"That's a tough, hard game," said the Taylor-street man.

"That's the way it looks to me," said the B-street man.

Having Admitted the Strength of the Evidence, an Eminent Physician Takes Legal Action.

The following letter tells its own story. The signature will be recognized as that of the Physician-in-Chief of the De Quincey Home, and author of "Drugs That Enslave," "The Hypodermic Injection of Morphine," "A Manual of Nursing," and many other popular and valuable special medical works:

191 WEST TENTH STREET, NEW YORK, AUGUST 11, 1880.

MESSES. SEABURY & JOHNSON, Gentlemen—Like most of my profession, I am cautious about pinning my faith to any new medicine or curative agent. But your "BENSON'S CAPSICINE POROUS PLASTER" has broken through the barriers and won its way to my good opinion.

My attention was first called to it some eight months ago by a patient of mine. Although I was well acquainted with the superior excellence of your plaster and anti-septic dressing, made especially for the profession, the Benson's was comparatively new to me. I had heard, however, of its merits as a remedy, in cases of lame back, local rheumatism, neuralgia, congestion of the bronchial tubes, and other affections, and I had begun to experiment with it personally. I had BENSON'S CAPSICINE PLASTER an exceptionally clear plaster to use and rapid in its action.

Many of its qualities, made in my own family and among my patients, have convinced me that there is no other similar article so valuable in popular use, nor so helpful in the diseases I have named.

Should you desire to do so you may use my name to that effect.

Very truly yours,
H. H. K. K. K., M. D.

The genuine have the word "CAPSICINE" cut in the center. Price 25 cents.
